EN ROUTE HOME—Hermann Field, Cleveland architect, and his wife, Kate, show their happiness at prospects of going home to U.S. on their arrival in Dover, England, Thursday, after a channel crossing that ended their trip from Switzerland. Imprisoned five years by Polish Communists, Field spent several weeks in Switzerland resting from experiences of confinement. "I am fine now, and anxious to pick up the threads of life," he said. He added he expected to return to the U.S. soon. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Field Is Baffled By Case

Says He Was Paid For False Arrest

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—Hermann Field said today he spent five years imprisoned in a cellar in Communist Poland, and disclosed the Warsaw government has paid him $50,000 for wrongful arrest.

He insisted he is at a loss to explain the case of the "disappearing Fields," and said he was never a Communist or "an agent for anybody."

"I AM NOT a Communist and never was one," he said. "Over the course of 20 years I have occasionally agreed with some of the policies for which the Communist party said it stood. For instance, I was very much opposed to the rise of Hitler and was opposed to the occupation of Czechoslovakia by German forces."

The 44-year-old Cleveland architect appeared at a London news conference 24 hours after his arrival from a rest period in Switzerland. Poland released him in October.

FOUR MEMBERS of the Field family disappeared behind the Iron Curtain in 1949. Hermann's older brother, Noel, a former U.S. State Department official, and his wife were released recently from a Hungarian prison and chose to stay in Hungary. Noel's adopted daughter, Erica Wallach, has been reported in exile in Siberia. Hermann said that all through the five years he never knew Noel's whereabouts. Noel Field has been denounced as a spy on both sides of the Iron Curtain, but Hungary in releasing him said he was absolved. Testimony before U.S. congressional committees linked him to Alger Hiss and Communist cells in Washington during the 30s.

HERMANN FIELD was asked today whether his brother Noel ever was a Communist.

"I do not know," Hermann Field said. "Since we were adults we have seen very little of each other."

He said he still holds an American passport but has no plans to return here.

"I've lost my job in Cleveland," he explained. "Before pulling up stakes, I want to find myself a new position and a new home town."

DENOUNCES PROGRAM—William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association, looks up from witness table Thursday, as he testifies before Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee in Washington. The committee is holding hearings on President Eisenhower's school aid program. The administration program, Carr said, "gives our schools much too little aid," while giving "much too much control" to the federal government. He termed the plan only "token" help. (AP Wirephoto).

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—The next move in the Formosa crisis is up to the Red Chinese. More and more American officials are coming around to the view that the Reds may make it with military force.

The importance of what the Reds may do overshadows a rift between the United States and Britain over the Quemoy, Matsu and other coastal islands.

With British support, the United States has established a firm line in defense of Formosa. Beyond this, the United States has in effect said it will fight a Chinese Communist assault on any of the offshore islands if President Eisenhower decides the move is aimed at conquest of Formosa. The British, however, hold that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists should give up the offshore islands and pull back to Formosa.

IN THIS SITUATION, the Communists have to decide whether they will try to take over either the coastal islands or Formosa itself by military means or by diplomatic maneuver. Under present circumstances, if they try by military means in either case it seems certain they will confront at the least a limited war with the United States.

Several months ago the Chinese Reds began stepping up their threats to capture Formosa. They have increased the violence of propaganda against the United States.

Furthermore, diplomats here have heard, they have privately told Burmese and Indian leaders they intend to take Formosa this year and will be selling rice (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Two Are Given Court Leniency

Poughkeepsie, Feb. 18 (AP)—Two young men were given suspended sentences and placed on probation for one year today on their plea of guilty to setting off a dynamite detonating cap in a men's dormitory at Bard College last Oct. 30.

The specific charge against Kenneth Halvorsen, 24, of Rock City, and Robert Cole, 23, of Red Hook, was the careless use of explosives.

The two were charged with placing a stick of dynamite in a corner on the first floor of the dormitory and setting off the charge with a battery. The cap exploded, but the dynamite did not. Damage to the building was slight, and no one was injured.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY recommended leniency, and told the court the two never had been in trouble before. He also said the incident started as a Halloween prank.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz said officials of the college also had recommended leniency.

Turning to the defendants, the court said: "If you both had not been drunk on that night you wouldn't have had this cockeyed idea. It was fortunate for you that the dynamite was old and didn't explode."

Dulles Will Take Plan For Defense of Asians
Eight-Nation Conference Will Open In Bangkok; Many Details Needed

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies toward the Far East this afternoon with a roughed-out plan for an eight-nation military council to coordinate defenses against Communism in southeast Asia.

The blueprint has many details yet to be filled in. It includes four main goals for a conference opening Wednesday at Bangkok, Thailand:

1. To set up an organization. The Southeast Asia Defense Treaty was signed last Sept. 8 at Manila and since then all eight participating nations have ratified it.

2. To build military security. The treaty area covers all of southeast Asia and the western Pacific below Formosa, including the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam. Each treaty nation is pledged to act "in accordance with its constitutional processes" against armed aggression in this area.

3. To create safeguards against subversion. Just how this is done has not been made clear.

4. To foster economic welfare. Again the outlook is clouded. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Four Men Seize $19,000 Pay Roll

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Four holdup men dressed as laborers disarmed two messengers today and escaped with a $19,000 pay roll intended for workers on a Tudor City apartment project.

The holdup scene was near the UN building.

The robbers mingled with workmen at the entrance of the new apartment building at 40th street and Tudor place until the messengers arrived shortly after 7 a. m.

Then three of them whipped out guns.

"Freeze," they said to the messengers. The latter complied with demands to turn over their guns and a bag containing the payroll.

The robbers warned two workmen standing nearby to remain quiet, then fled through the first floor and out a door on 41st street.

They were believed to have jumped into an automobile there to complete their escape.

Police searched the area without finding trace of them. The messengers, George Dixon, 39, and George Golden, 31, both of Manhattan, employees of Teaclear Inc., were taking the pay roll to a paymaster of a cement company.

Communist Vessels Go To Harbors

Landing Craft, Gunboats Sunk
Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 18 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warships and planes pounced on a Chinese Communist troop and supply convoy in the East China Sea today and the defense ministry claimed at least 21 vessels were sunk.

If the Nationalist claims are confirmed, it would be the most severe defeat they have ever administered the Reds.

The ministry said the Reds lost eight landing craft, five gunboats and eight armed motorized junks, plus other unspecified craft. The landing craft were believed to be carrying about 200 soldiers each.

The ministry said the Nationalist warplanes also swooped down in an attack on the Red-held Taishan Islands, destroying eight barracks and causing heavy Communist casualties.

A ministry spokesman said the Red flotilla was cruising southward toward the Taishans when the Nationalist warships intercepted it. After the Nationalist navy reported seven landing craft and possibly three gun boats sunk, Chiang Kai-shek's warplanes raced out over the sea to take on the survivors.

THE MINISTRY SAID none of the Nationalist ships was lost. The sea battle erupted off the Chekiang province coast about 130 miles northwest of Formosa between the Nationalist northern outpost of Nanchang and Red-held Taishan Island.

The Red convoy was spotted at 7:50 a. m. (6:50 p. m. EST, Thursday), moving southward from the Wenchow bay area. Two warships and four gunboats were conveying eight landing ships each capable of carrying 200 troops.

In the first 30 minutes of action, seven Red landing craft were sunk. Col. Lu Ta of the Defense Ministry said. He reported three of the four Red gunboats were set afire and possibly sunk.

FOUR HOURS LATER Nationalist warplanes still were pursuing the surviving craft, he said.

Lu said the small transports were loaded with troops and supplies but he refused to speculate on their mission. Possibly the Reds were building up their garrison on Taishan, 15 miles off the coast, for an assault either (Continued on Page 13, Col. 6)

Company Plans 500 Area Houses

Davis Industries of New York will construct 500 modern homes on three separate developments in Ulster county, it was announced today by Jack Davis, president.

The firm will erect 175 homes on the former Kirndale Dairy

Farm property at Port Ewen, and another 175 homes on the Simmons Dairy property at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, according to the announcement.

The balance of the homes are planned for additional property acquired by the firm in the town of Ulster in the general vicinity of the site of the proposed new school.

Property transfers in each case were handled through the real estate office of Joseph F. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Pineau Pledges Treaty Efforts

Paris, Feb. 18 (AP)—Christian Pineau, seeking approval as next premier of France, told the National Assembly today he intends to work for quick ratification of the Paris treaties for German rearmament.

"If we wish to remain faithful to our alliances and to Atlantic solidarity," said Pineau "we must then bring to an end our prolonged discussion which has only divided France too much. The government will seek to obtain, in the shortest possible time, the final ratification of the Paris and London agreements."

PINEAU WAS GIVEN only a small chance of being approved by the Assembly to end the two-week-old crisis opened by the overthrow of Premier Mendes-France.

Pineau said he also would work for the new diplomatic negotiations with Russia, greater trade between East and West, an armaments agency for the six nations of the Western European Union and World-wide Disarmament.

THE GOVERNMENT, he said, "will not content itself with taking care of the regrettable demands of security. It will seek simultaneously, never admitting discouragement, all the forms of negotiation between East and West, susceptible of assuring a relaxation of international tensions and the settlement of problems in suspense. Negotiate, negotiate again, always negotiate—that must be the slogan of a government anxious to see its country and the world escape destruction."

British Are Proud

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—British newspapers exhibited patriotic pride today in the government announcement this island nation will make her own hydrogen bombs. Several emphasized the work will go forward without help from the United States. The jittery tone sounded in the British press following American H-bomb tests 11 months ago was almost completely absent.

Eisenhower Program Is Expected to Be Passed

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower's embattled program designed to expand free world trade by lowering U. S. tariffs moved toward expected House passage late today.

But protective tariff forces, after a surprising show of strength yesterday, said prospects were good they could water down the administration bill.

Eisenhower reportedly planned a last-minute appeal for support through a message to be read by House Minority Leader

Police to Question Convict About Kidnap-Ransom Plan

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—A Sing Sing prisoner named by Herman Scholz will be questioned about the kidnap-for-ransom angle in the mystery slaying of playboy-financier Serge Rubinstein.

Scholz, mild-mannered, 50-year-old rental limousine driver, has told police that the murder of the 46-year-old Rubinstein was a kidnap scheme borrowed from him by underworld characters and "bungled."

Scholz yesterday named Elmano Troiani, 34, as one of two men who plotted with him three years ago to snatch Rubinstein for ransom.

Troiani has been in Sing Sing prison at Ossining, since February, 1954, serving 10 to 10 years for a Bayside, Queens, burglary.

RUBINSTEIN WAS FOUND trussed, gagged and strangled in the master bedroom of his Fifth Avenue mansion last Jan. 27.

The third man assertedly in on Scholz' scheme has not been identified.

Authorities, while checking on mobsters named by Scholz, say they still are working on all angles of the case.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman told newsmen yesterday: "All I can say at this time is that we are not sure we know all the names, but we are focusing intensively in that direction—but not to the elimination of other possibilities."

President Asks Care On Labels

Says Republicans Should Be Careful

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower says Republicans ought not to link Communists and Democrats in the same class when they line up to fight their enemies.

The President's admonition was delivered to the Republican National Committee yesterday after it unanimously had affirmed a subcommittee's choice of San Francisco as the site and Aug. 20 as the opening date for the 1956 presidential nominating convention.

THE COMMITTEE thanked Eisenhower for "an inspirational and heart-warming talk" and proceeded to assert in a resolution offered by former Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, Illinois member:

"Thanks to him (Eisenhower) and his unequalled leadership, we approach 1956 not only determined to win, but convinced that we will win because America wants and is determined to have the quality of government which Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican party have given it."

Maintaining silence on his own plans, the President told the delegates not to lose their "balance of values" in their struggle to win elections.

"OUR GREATEST ENEMY is the Communists," he said. "Our great struggle today is a free world against a dictator world. Our greatest enemy is not the Democrats. We certainly know we can't have better allies when we are fighting anybody from abroad."

"So let's remember that. . . . Let's not build up a picture that the worst enemy anyone can (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Farm Bureau Federation Gives Views on Gas Taxes

Syracuse, Feb. 18 (AP)—The New York State Farm Bureau Federation contends that the federal government should let the states take over all gasoline taxation and carry on highway construction themselves.

The Eisenhower administration's proposed 101-billion-dollar highway program and the federal 2-cent-a-gallon levy on gasoline were prime targets Wednesday as representatives of the Farm Bureau laid their legislative program before 20 New York congressmen.

Wiretap Center Raided by Police

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—A mysterious big telephone wiretapping center, capable of eavesdropping on phone conversations over much of Manhattan's swank business and residential area, reportedly has been raided by police.

However, police authorities remained strangely silent on the matter long after the accounts first appeared in newspapers.

For a time various high ranking officials disclaimed any knowledge, then gave out details. Finally it was announced that Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams would make a statement today.

THE NEWSPAPERS said the raid was disclosed in a memorandum submitted to legislative leaders in Albany by the New York Anti-Crime Committee, a private organization.

Purpose of the memorandum, it was said, was to show that unauthorized wiretapping of telephones here is now so widespread that new legislation is required to curb it.

Newspaper stories said the raid was inspired by disclosures that the murdered Serge Rubinstein, multimillionaire financial wizard slain in his luxurious Fifth Ave. mansion, made wide use of taps to get information for his market manipulations.

These were some of the details reported by the papers:

THE RAID WAS CARRIED out last Friday by a police squad headed by a high ranking officer. They crashed into an apartment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Veterans Agency Gave Service to 8,459 in Year

A total of 8,459 persons contacted the Ulster County Veterans Agency Service during 1954 and received a total of 11,955 services. These services were rendered to veterans, their families or dependents. Many of these cases were closed during the year.

In his annual report to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, Howard C. Shurtler, director, reported compensations and pensions amounting to $42,907.56 had been obtained for veterans or their dependents during the year. Burial benefits amounted to $3,535. Accrued benefits amounted to $12,306.10, insurance $14,561.60 and estimated subsistence totaled $132,000 for the year. Most of these benefits are based upon monthly payments and continue from year to year and thus accumulate into hundreds of thousands of dollars over the years.

DURING THE YEAR the staff of the office, which consists of the director, three veterans advisors, one stenographer, also had the assistance two days a week of a New York State counselor. In addition to the main office at 32 Main street, Kingston, a full-time branch office is maintained in the town clerk's office at Ellenville and an itinerant office is open one day a week in Highland and Saugerties. The Ellenville agency also conducts an itinerant office at Kerhonkson one day a month for the convenience of veterans and their families in that area.

Late Bulletin

Washington Feb. 18 (AP)—Key House Democrats said today only last-minute influence from President Eisenhower apparently can prevent a "crippling" amendment to Eisenhower's world trade legislation.

There were reports the President was planning an appeal for support through a message to Republican Leader Martin (Mass.).

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said if Republicans couldn't muster more votes for the program than they did in preliminary skirmishing yesterday, the amendment probably would pass late today.

of the agency was $17,390, including all salaries, utility charges and supplies and $5,000 of this amount is reimbursed by New York State.

Acknowledgment of assistance from the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs is made in the report, as well as credit given for the services of a State counselor two days a week and for other assistance which he gives the county agency.

In conclusion Director Shurtler says: "The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency has continued to receive assistance from various other agencies and organizations in serving the veterans. For this assistance we are very grateful and wish to acknowledge it in this report. We, therefore, extend our thanks to the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Marine Corps League, the Red Cross, the Welfare Department, the Sheriff's Office, the Health Department, the County Clerk's Office and the Kingston Police Department. We also acknowledge the help of the Federal Social Security Agency and the New York State Employment Service."

In charge of the Kingston opera are Mac White and Sam Jacobson, presidents of the Kirndale corporation.

Both are experienced home builders and gained widespread recognition for their development of the "Merrick Ranger," in the town of Merrick on Long Island. This home, noted for its advanced design, has been copied in many areas of the country. They also have large developments at Bellmore, Wantagh and Hempstead, L. I., and at Hartford, Conn.

BOTH JACOBSON and White plan to reside in this area. During World War 2, Jacobson served as an officer with the U. S. Navy, and White did special construction work for the Army Air Force.

Davis, who is head of the corporation, is active in a number of industries, including the Davis Oil Company, a large independent oil drilling operation, as well as a mining, drilling and uranium exploration company. He maintains his principal office in New York city at 105 West 40th street.

Although Scholz told newsmen that he felt "fine," it was learned that he had complained about the food in jail.

Jury Gets Case
New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—A Supreme Court jury of 11 men and a woman today was given former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy's $250,000 damage suit against the New York World-Telegram and Sun for alleged libel. Macy based his suit on a story in the newspaper Oct. 18, 1950, concerning the "Hanley letter"—an issue in the 1950 state political campaign.

Dulles Will . . . Carter Retires From Dentistry

Earlier talk of a "Marshall Plan for Asia" or a more modest program of loans and grants has given way to "coordination of existing programs."

DULLES TOOK ALL these aims into account in his speech at New York Wednesday night. He also cited a fifth:

"The Bangkok conference will enable the free nations of the west and of the east to begin a vital demonstration. They can show that, through association as sovereign nations they can each help the other to independence, security and well-being."

In effect, the secretary was saying something like this to such nations as India, Burma and Indonesia which are on the fence between Communist and anti-Communist blocs:

Let east and west sit down together—in this case Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines, with the United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand. With all eight as equals, none need fear western domination. Other Asians should profit by the example.

Company Plans
Saccoman of this city. There are approximately 53 acres in the Kirndale development, 55 in the Simmons development and 45 in the town of Ulster tract.

A choice of ranch type, split level and Cape Cod homes is contemplated in the price range from $11,000 to $15,000.

CONSTRUCTION of model homes is expected to begin within the next several weeks, weather permitting, and should be on view to the public, fully furnished and decorated, by May 1, according to Davis, who stated that FHA and VA financing will be available. The company is planning a selling agency with all local brokers, he added.

The Kirndale Development Corporation has been formed as a subsidiary of Davis Industries to handle the local development. It has established offices at 276 Fair street in this city.

In charge of the Kingston opera are Mac White and Sam Jacobson, presidents of the Kirndale corporation.

Both are experienced home builders and gained widespread recognition for their development of the "Merrick Ranger," in the town of Merrick on Long Island. This home, noted for its advanced design, has been copied in many areas of the country. They also have large developments at Bellmore, Wantagh and Hempstead, L. I., and at Hartford, Conn.

In announcing his plans for the Ulster county developments, Davis said this area was chosen because of his "great faith in its industrial growth." He also said he has acquired a "love" for the area, where his two children spend their summers.

Wiretap Center

On East 54th street, to find two men and two women operating tap equipment valued at $10,000. So complex was the setup that the tappers could hear phone conversations anywhere from 36th street to 96th street on the East Side of Manhattan.

This area includes many plush Fifth avenue stores, some of the world's most exclusive residential sections and offices of many huge business concerns.

TEN ACTIVE WIRETAPS were in progress at the time of the raid. Many others had been recorded on tape earlier. It was brought out by what the conversation concerned.

Two of those in the apartment were telephone company employees, it was said, who were immediately suspended for unauthorized use of company equipment.

None of the four was arrested by the raiders, it was added, but no reason was given for the failure to do so. Wiretapping is illegal in the state without court permission.

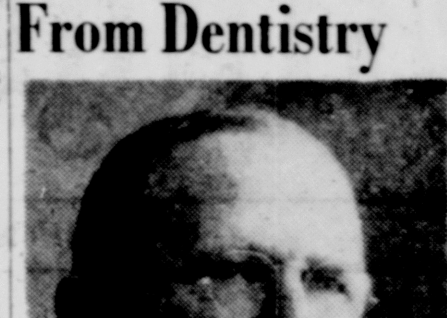

However, as legal experts explain it, the law covers only wiretapping which involves an actual connection into telephone circuits.

There are numerous modern devices which make possible the same result without such connections. These are "induction coils" and extra-sensitive microphones which can make "pick-ups" from a considerable distance away.

THE NEWSPAPER STORIES indicated that both types of equipment may have been in use on the premises raided, with the telephone wire taps effected through some kind of hookup with phone cables which run underground in every block in New York city.

The anti-crime committee was understood to have told legislators that some electronic equipment now being used by wiretappers is so secret that only the government is supposed to use it.

Carter Retires From Dentistry

CHARLES D. CARTER
Dr. Charles D. Carter, who has practiced dentistry in the city of Kingston for the past 50 years, has retired.

Dr. Carter's dental offices and building have been purchased by Dr. Victor I. Randall, who has been practicing dentistry here with offices at 288 Wall street for the past eight years. The transaction was completed today and Dr. Randall will remove to his newly acquired offices within the next two weeks.

DR. CARTER CAME to Kingston in 1904 and established dental offices in the former First National Bank of Rondout Building in the downtown section of the city. He practiced dentistry at this location for 29 years. In 1933 he erected a dental office building at 207 Fair street, where he has been located for the past 21 years.

Following his graduation from Harvard University, where he received the degree of doctor of dental medicine, Dr. Carter established his profession here. His place of birth is Southington, Conn., where he was born August 1, 1878.

Married to the former Anna M. Martin, they have two children, Douglas and Genevieve. Dr. and Mrs. Carter reside at 281 West Chestnut street.

DURING HIS HALF CENTURY residence here, Dr. Carter has been active in the civic and fraternal life of the community. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and a mason to the 32nd degree. He also is a life member of the American Dental Association, Shriners and Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity.

He is a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, having joined the local service club in 1917. He is the second oldest member in the point of service.

Attack May Be
from Formosa by the year's end.

THESE PRIVATE BOASTS, coupled with the increasingly strong public stands, are regarded as going beyond normal propaganda in such a situation. In effect the "Chinese Communist leaders are nailing themselves to a program of force."

That has some top American officials worried. However, officials declared that Secretary of State Dulles meant exactly what he said in New York Wednesday night. Dulles asserted that the free nations could not make concessions in the Far East to try and induce the Communists to be peaceful without gravely imperiling the confidence of the free peoples of Asia.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Dulles has threatened the Chinese people, perverted the facts and made "rude attacks" on the Soviet Union.

BRITISH OFFICIALS are convinced that the Soviet Union is trying to use its influence to keep Red China from precipitating a big war in the Formosa area. The British themselves are using on the Chinese Reds all the persuasive arguments they can think of.

But neither they nor American leaders have any confidence that the Reds will not engage in some kind of military action, although this country has indicated it would bargain on the coastal islands if the Reds were willing to renounce efforts to take Formosa by force.

The best hope seems to be that any move the Communists undertake will be designed initially as probing operations.

President Asks

have is a Democrat. Far from it. We just don't think they can do as good as we do. As a matter of fact, we know it."

THE PRESIDENT'S cautionary remarks appeared directed at such GOP campaigners as Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin who assailed Democrats in speeches entitled "20 Years of Treason," and at others who have accused Democratic officials of being soft toward communism.

Democrats have said Vice President Nixon was one of the latter, but Nixon has denied making any such general charges. Eisenhower told delegates that instead of the "progressive moderate" label he once used for his administration he now prefers "dynamic conservatism." He said administration policies in "the fields of agriculture . . . the freedoms that have been restored to our economy, to the tax system" illustrated what he was talking about.

Eisenhower . . .
bill would be opened to a flood of trade-restricting amendments. The picture was reversed only after Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) stepped down from the rostrum to plead for the limitation.

In each of the three roll calls, a majority of Republicans voted against the procedure curbing amendments. A majority of Democrats supported it. Democrats did most of the shifting to save the day for supporters of the trade program.

The bill would extend for three more years the President's power to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, under which the United States cuts tariffs on foreign goods coming into this country in exchange for reductions in trade barriers to American products shipped abroad.

Most of the tariff-cutting authority under the present law has been exhausted. The new bill would permit the President to cut rates an additional 5 per cent each year for three years. He could make even bigger cuts in some cases.

Eisenhower and his supporters in Congress argue this would help U. S. allies sell more goods here, help Americans sell more abroad, and knit the free world closer together in every way.

But opponents swung a lot of power behind their argument that increased imports might undermine competing American industries. Many members, with industries in their districts they felt could be hurt by imports, were willing to buck both Democratic and Republican leaders on the issue.

10 Years Ago — Iwo Jima; Sacrifice Seen Not in Vain

(With war tension again high in the Far East, the sacrifice of thousands of Marines who died to capture tiny Iwo Jima from the Japanese in 1945, was not in vain. Here's the story of that bloody landing by an AP reporter who made it 10 years ago as a war correspondent.)

BY HAMILTON W. FARON

Associated Press Writer
Slowly and carefully, the young marine private stacked his battle gear at his feet—carbine, cartridges, gas mask, canteen, rations.

Finally he took off his helmet and dropped to his knees on the rough deck in the bow of the landing craft.

His lips began to move silently.

Buddies who not long before had been chanting bawdy songs, glanced toward him, then wordlessly moved forward to form a circle enclosing his spot of private prayer.

In the stern of the landing craft another marine retched violently and painfully—seasickness—maybe fear.

THEY WERE GOING IN—in to what was expected to be, and was, one of the bloodiest beach-heads in marine corps history—Iwo Jima.

It was a bright sunny morning, and light breezes barely rippled the water that Feb. 19 10 years ago.

But the sky was filled with tiny clouds, wisps of smoke tossed high by incessant bombardment, by occasional bits of return fire from the pork-chop shaped four and a half square mile island where thousands of men soon were to die.

Thirty minutes from the landing craft as it circled at the line of departure was the objective of the praying and the seasick youngsters and their tens of thousands of companions.

Then it was H-hour. Circling ended and landing craft wallowed ahead toward the beach.

Louder and louder sounded the crash of shells as navy bombardment continued to soften up the island and its Japanese defenders.

The bow struck the beach. The landing ramp dropped.

THE MARINES LEAPED OUT on the run but were slowed immediately to a plodding walk by the volcanic ash and sand beach.

Feet sank shoetop high as they doggedly pushed ahead across the sloping beach. Many stumbled against tiny stakes bearing Japanese characters and numbers, set out for registered fire on the beaches from enemy mortars and artillery pieces.

To the left was Mt. Suribachi, honeycombed with caves used for gun emplacements. To the right was high ground where the Japanese had set up their heaviest defenses and where, at the end, they made their last stand.

From each end of the island mortar shells crashed onto the beach, tearing giant holes in the yielding sand.

Then the sand became an aid rather than hindrance. Quickly and almost simultaneously, it seemed, the marines learned that emergency shelters could be scooped out almost effortlessly by sitting down and kicking the sand away.

BUT MANY DIED; more were wounded.

By the end of that bloody D-Day, one in every 12 of the 30,000 men who swarmed onto the beach was dead, wounded or missing.

And those casualties—2,420 on the first day, including 505 killed—were merely an indication of what was to come. By the end of the campaign casualties had climbed past 25,000—including more than 5,500 dead—among the invading marines. Another 2,798 men of supporting naval units were killed or wounded.

The Japanese casualties? They can only be estimated. There were better than 20,000 Japanese on the island—none civilians. Only a few more than a thousand were taken prisoner.

The others died, buried in caves crushed by bombardment, picked off by sharpshooting marines, killed in hand-to-hand combat in the one or two assaults they staged in the closing days of the campaign, burned out of holes with flamethrowers after ignoring loudspeaker pleas that they surrender or live, or mysteriously, as did a group of about 20 found side by side in a ravine, bodies swollen by putrefaction until uniforms were about to burst, but without a sign of wounds.

BUT IT WAS SURIBACHI that grabbed most of the attention. That rugged hill on the south end of the island had been ticketed long in advance of the invasion for prompt conquest. It was known to be filled to overflowing with gun emplacements zeroed in on landing beaches and airfields.

The 28th Marine Regiment slammed onto the beach closest to its base. Promptly the 28th swung southward, their objective to silence those many guns, take Mt. Suribachi.

Pounded by fire every inch of the way they moved steadily ahead. Four days later with 895 casualties—510 dead—counted in the fight for Suribachi, the flag was raised on its crest and its guns were silenced.

That flag raising provided the setting for the photograph by Joe Rosenthal, then an Associated Press photographer, which since has been transformed into a gigantic marine memorial on the Potomac's banks in Washington.

WHY WAS THAT barren island worth so many lives, so many injuries?

Planes from heavy bomber groups on Saipan, Tinian and Guam were blasting and burning the Japanese homeland, speeding the end of the war by knocking out Japanese industry. But they needed fighter cover to beat off Japanese planes as they roared over Tokyo, Yokohama, and other industrial spots.

Fighters couldn't fly the round-trip distance from the bomber bases. They could fly to Japan and back from Iwo. And the big bombers needed a spot to land if damaged. Crippled B29's, torn by Japanese anti-aircraft fire began landing on Iwo before the battle for the island ended.

And strangely enough in view of today's tension in the Far East if it were not for the decision that the air assaults were of paramount importance in ending World War 2, the men of Iwo Jima would have taken another island. They were destined, until strategy prompted a change in plans, to invade Formosa.

Boston, Feb. 18 (AP)—Three well-known textile firms—American Woolen, Texton, Inc., and Robbins Mills—were merged today into one giant corporation, Texton American, Inc.

The new Texton American, Inc., has aggregate assets of 161 million dollars, net worth of 94 million dollars and working capital of 52 million.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 18, 1955

ROTARY'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

The Kingston Rotary Club is marking the golden anniversary of Rotary International, which was founded in Chicago February 23, 1905. The local service club has been part of this international organization since 1916.

March 25, 1916 the Rotary Club whirled into its Kingston orbit, the inaugural being staged at the old Eichler Hotel. On the occasion of the institution here 39 years ago there were 30 members present and of this number there remains but one active member, Arthur G. Carr, who is the sole charter member.

Down through the years, the Kingston Rotary Club has made innumerable contributions to the civic life of the community. In the spirit of service to mankind, many projects are carried out by the local Rotary Club without ostentation. No attempt is made to tabulate or compute the results of this work, but the members know that the greatest good has come to themselves and that their motto has demonstrated its truth, "That he profits most who serves the best."

And this motto was given Rotary International by the late Dr. Arthur Frederick Sheldon of this city. Dr. Sheldon, who joined the Chicago Rotary in 1908, spread the one basic objective of Rotary, the ideal of service, which is to be thoughtful of and helpful to others, to England and established the first Rotary Club in London. Throughout his illustrious career, Dr. Sheldon, who conducted a school for business ethics, dedicated himself to unfolding the principles of Rotary. His philosophy of business ethics has influenced the lives of business and professional men throughout the world.

The name Rotary was selected because originally the members met in rotation in their various places of business. Soon Rotary Club were organized in other cities throughout the United States and the idea spread to Canada, Europe, South America, Asia, Africa and Australia. By 1922, Rotary had encircled the world with Rotary Clubs on the six continents banded together as Rotary International.

Today there are 8,400 Rotary Clubs located in 89 countries of the free world. The membership numbers some 400,000.

Rotary's program is to encourage and foster the "Ideal of Service" as a basis of worthy enterprise and, in particular to encourage and foster the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service; high ethical standards in business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying of each Rotarian by his occupation as an opportunity to serve society. Also the application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal, business and community life and the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the "Ideal of Service."

The American operetta "Porgy and Bess" won wide critical and popular acclaim in this country when it was first produced and it is being received with equal enthusiasm in other parts of the world. At Tel Aviv, Israel, a company of American Negro actors played to capacity houses. The reception has been similar in other countries.

JUST A DREAM?

Like a dash of cold water, arousing a sleeper from a romantic dream, comes the prosaic statement by Prof. Harry H. Goode, head of the University of Michigan Willow Run Research Center. He was commenting on the suggestion that a satellite be built in outer space as a launching site for military rockets, and perhaps as an observation post for the activities of possible foes.

He dismisses the satellite as "foolish expense," pointing out that a space station would be "a sitting duck" for guided enemy missiles.

Can any one whose taste runs to space ships think of an answer to that one?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

OUR GOVERNMENT

The personnel of our government consists of 2,345,000 employees of all kinds from day laborers to policy-making officials whose decisions determine the fate of the nation. Probably the first scientific study that has ever been made of the whole subject has just come to light in the report of Herbert Hoover's Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. The annual payroll for all government civil employees is approximately $9,000,000,000.

The United States Government has suffered from the spoils system in two senses, namely, that the political party in office regarded the employment of civil servants as a method of strengthening their party; the other fault is that some Administrations have blanketed unproved employees, taken on for political reasons, into the Civil Service.

The problem that faces the Government is not only to establish an efficient Civil Service, but to preserve the policy-making function of officials as a political responsibility of those chosen by the Government to achieve efficiency by giving government employment, even for short periods, for special tasks, to the most competent men and women in the country without the constant impediment of stultifying seniority rules. In wartime, for instance, the Government recruits the most able men in the nation for special tasks.

From 1933 to 1952, Congress has passed a number of laws granting politically-appointed persons Civil Service status non-competitively, that is without examination. The number so protected amounts to about 220,000 persons, although the figures are kept so badly that it is believed that this is a low calculation.

The problem facing the Hoover Commission was to define the difference between policy-making and non-policy-making officials. There is a difference, for instance, between a stenographer and an official whose judgment may lead to economic disaster or even to war. The Government is particularly weak in managerial personnel. The report says:

It is not well understood how much manpower is actually needed to do this job effectively. The existing number of non-career executives is spread too thin in terms of the tasks which they should perform.

"Our Task Force has noted the high and increasing rate of turnover of top non-career executives, especially in the assistant and under-secretarial positions."

The administration functions of the Government have grown so enormously that it is no longer possible to entrust managerial responsibility to the "chief clerk" type of mind. In March, 1953, "... an attempt was made to improve the delineation by the establishment of a definite class of political employees beneath the level of assistant secretary and exempt from the competitive Civil Service rules. At that time, political and confidential employees were removed from Schedule 'A' and placed in a new Schedule 'C'. The Commission concludes that while the concept of separating political and confidential jobs from other exempted jobs is basically sound, Schedule 'C' has not yet achieved its desired objective."

The Hoover Commission has therefore recommended that in the non-career category be placed:

"All positions having vested in them statutory authority or executive delegations of authority requiring the incumbents to make final decisions in the establishing of governing policies, programs, objectives and in the enunciation of principles which will control the action of subordinates in the implementation of the foregoing;

"All positions, the duties of which require the incumbents to act publicly in advocating new policies and in justifying or defending the governing policies or the basic principles or philosophy which controls their department or agency policies. Such duties would include direct participation with, or representation of non-career executives in public debate, evaluation discussions, and justifications of departmental policies, programs or activities."

In a word, the Civil Service is taken out of politics and political debate. The managerial group selected by the President to function directly under his authority and working to carry out his policies, for which he is responsible to the people, will operate in the political sphere.

Congressman Chet Holifield of California objects to this proposal on the ground that it is an indication of another scheme to divide up the government into more juggling and wider opportunity to dilute the career service with political appointees.

His concept is fallacious because it is the President who is responsible under the Constitution. If he is to manage the Executive Branch of Government, he ought to be given an adequate staff to work with.

That Body of Yours

TREATMENT OF BACK DISCS

A great deal has been written on the subject of operations for herniated lumbar discs (the discs are little layers or cushions of cartilage between the bones of the spinal column) which are causing pressure on a nerve root and hence considerable pain. Relatively few articles have appeared, however, on the conservative or non-operative treatment of this condition.

In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. J. Warren White of the Straub Clinic, Honolulu, points out that there is much to be said for the conservative treatment. He gives the following figures comparing results from operative treatment and conservative treatment in 1949 and in 1953. The figures are percentages. In 1949 and in 1953, 60 per cent of patients undergoing operation for low back pain caused by a displaced disc reported themselves as being free from pain; 40 per cent in 1949 and 28 per cent in 1953 reported that they still had occasional pain. Of those treated along conservative lines of rest with no operation, 29 per cent reported themselves as being free of pain in 1949 but in 1953, 61 per cent reported that they were pain-free.

Dr. White feels that too often one goes through the motions of conservative treatment in a halfhearted manner with perhaps the idea of eventual operation whereas there are very definite benefits to be gained by this treatment. He mentions four points in the treatment:

1. Less exertion: a detailed analysis of the patient's activities, both at work and at home, is important. A desk worker may not mention that he is building a back-yard stone wall; one may almost have to pry this information out of him. Also, some patients have a false idea of the necessity of physical exercises and make himself suffer unnecessarily.

2. Posture: Dr. White has found that, although he dislikes to admit it the usual attempts to improve a patient's posture are unsuccessful. He will, however, frequently agree to simple back exercises which are helpful in strengthening the back against future injury.

3. Supports: Steel and leather braces are of great assistance in severe cases, if the patient can be persuaded to use them. Plaster casts also have the advantage of restricting activity for the necessary amount of time.

4. Traction: Dr. White considers traction the most important agent in conservative treatment of disc lesions. It must be employed efficiently and cause as little discomfort as possible. Fifteen or twenty pounds is all that can be used ordinarily but even less is of value if only for keeping the patient in bed and at rest until healing occurs.

"Don't Worry---I'm Right Behind You"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — President Eisenhower's special message to Congress on school aid turned out to be far more liberal than most specialists in the field of education expected.

His goal is $7 billion worth of new school construction over the next three years. Six billion of this is to be state funds, however. So the federal share boils down to a billion-dollar aid program.

That sounds big. But the two-and-a-half-billion-dollar-a-year program which the President's plan would average out to is only slightly larger than the $2 billion being spent this year for new schools, without federal aid.

School officials say that isn't enough. To meet requirements for 450,000 additional classrooms needed over the next three years would take nearly $15 billion, at an average cost of $30,000 to $35,000 a room, including land and equipment. So from this angle, the President's program is analyzed as meeting only half the need.

THE BILL INTRODUCED BY Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R.-N.J.) to carry out the President's plan is now being studied closely by school officials for possible gimmicks.

The plan to have the federal government buy up $750 million worth of local school bonds over the next three years is brand-new. The idea is that the U. S. government would purchase only bonds that local school districts could not finance themselves at reasonable—under 3 per cent—interest.

There is some fear that this provision would make lending institutions jack up their interest rates to local school authorities. This would force the sale of their securities to the federal government, which is a better risk.

For school districts that can't borrow money at any price, the President's plan to have these districts rent their school buildings from new "State School Building Agencies" that would finance their construction, is looked upon with considerable misgivings.

STATE BOARDS OF EDUCATION don't like the idea of having any new authority set up with any greater powers than they already possess. Also, it is not entirely clear how this plan would work out.

If school districts would have to pay rents high enough to cover the new agencies' administrative costs, plus interest and principal on what amounts to a school construction mortgage, and a contribution to a reserve fund, then the ultimate cost to the local taxpayer might be greater than it is under present school bond financing.

Three states—Pennsylvania, Georgia and Maine now have such school building agencies. Indiana has created an agency but it is not operative. Wisconsin courts declared such an agency unconstitutional in that state.

That would leave 43 states unable to benefit from this plan, even if Congress approved it immediately. Most state legislatures are meeting this year in biennial session. It is doubtful if they could act fast enough to create new state building agencies or derive any good from them through federal aid during the next two years.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's proposal for outright U. S. Treasury grants to the poorer, local school districts demonstrating their inability to finance new school construction, is what even the all-out states-rights States seem to want.

The President's message suggests $200 million for this program over three years. This would build only 2,000 modern schoolrooms, a year—a minor fraction of what's needed.

For the first fiscal year of operation, beginning next July 1, the bill for the President's aid to education is estimated at $471 million in new obligatory authority. This would be divided $250 million for school bond purchase, $150 million for the federal government's half of the interest and reserve fund payments to the school building authorities, $66 million in grants and $5 million in administrative expenses for the whole works.

Actual expenses are estimated at $100 million during the first year.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Professor Theodore Brameld was a little sluggish but he has finally come through in a strange, roundabout way with answers to some inquiries of mine which were prompted by the honor that he did me at a mental scrimmage in New York by a group of individuals who called themselves intellectuals, including, if all people, Eleanor Roosevelt.

Professor Brameld set me up just fine on an otherwise gloomy day by acknowledging me as an exemplar of something called anti-intellectualism. This is a homemade word that the double-domes are bandying about with the earnest self-consciousness of a sea lion trying to thread a needle with a one-inch rope. Anti-intellectualism is their crude, clumsy way of saying misgrammarism, which means the hatred of learning, as you would think anyone would know who has the effrontery to set himself up as a person of superior culture.

Anyway, on Jan. 17, Brameld, who teaches something called educational philosophy at New York U. was quoted to that effect and I soon got a letter from the Rev. Rix Pierce Butler, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church at Rosedale, L. I., stating that mention of this savant reminded him that when he was a student at Union Theological Seminary, a professor presented him to Brameld with the remark that Brameld was "the outstanding Marxist thinker of our generation." I addressed questions to Brameld at New York U. and it has taken all this time to get an answer which came, rather strangely, in the envelope of Ernest Angell, attorney. Mr. Angell had advised Brameld to reply and he enclosed a letter from Brameld to Angell, but not to me. In that letter, Brameld said he did not remember ever having been introduced to the Rev. Dr. Butler, and therefore could not have any recollection of any such words. Moreover, he said, in remarkably explicit language, "I am not a Marxist."

"As a professional student of philosophy," he further said, "I have fundamental reasons for being unable to accept the Marxist theory. Mr. Pegler was referred to by Prof. S. Stanfield Sargent at the conference of Jan. 16th. As the person appointed to summarize the conference, it was my duty to include, the name of Mr. Pegler in my remarks along with the names of others earlier mentioned by the speakers."

I am just dumb enough in my misgrammarian way to doubt that there is any such philosophy as the philosophy of education. And I volunteer that the claptrap that is being needed into youth today in college and in the armed forces where the poor kids have to hold still and submit, in the guise of "social science," is quackery slanted to prepare them to accept the pessimistic ideas of the old world.

Certainly the so-called social sciences yield little respect for the constitution of the United States, for they are socialistic at least as the word "social" in that vague title suggests. The constitution provides a republican form of government with verbiage against Socialism notwithstanding which fact our massive payroll tax is brazenly and defiantly called "Social Security."

As devotees of these misgrammarian essays may recall, the Reverend Butler responded promptly with a baffling text which he attributed to Brameld in a book called "A Philosophic Approach to Communism," which is not mentioned in the learned brow's lumber in Who's Who for 1954-55. This is an interesting omission inasmuch as he did list this work in Who's Who for 1950-51 along with others which are dropped out of the '54-'55 edition, namely, "Minority Problems in the Public Schools," "Design for America" and "Workers' Education in the U. S."

The text submitted by Doctor Butler left me reeling and when he added that Brameld did the philosophic approach to Communism at the University of Chicago under the presidency of Robert Hutchins, late of the Ford Foundation and now of the Ford Fund for the Republic, he explained a lot to me, and possibly to you. Still I keep wondering why Brameld did not mention these titles in this year's Who's Who and you are allowed to give your curiosity a little rope, too.

I did manage to get hold of "Design for America," which I will not clutter your mind with any details of beyond conviction that you would not pick it for company in a hammock or a dentist's office or on a desert island, if you had your option of a telephone book. However, I did observe among the as it were, screen credits in "Design" "Miss Ona Swanson, student assistant." This book was printed in 1945 and I just happened to notice that Brameld said in Who's Who that he married as his second wife in 1949 a party of that very name without stating what happened to his No. 1 wife. Putting two and two together I do not get anything but a pleasant confirmation of my old adage that love is wonderful, even among the double-domes, although I would be inclined to say it is much too good for them.

Meanwhile, I have received an enormous file of volunteered information about Brameld who seems even more sinister to me, if possible, than I seem to him. However, to close today's lesson, I will observe that he was vice-chairman of the mayor's council on "human relations" in Minneapolis in 1946-47 and that "human relations" was the subject in which a young woman was studying for a "master's degree," at New York U., when she was murdered in a Greenwich Village highway last week. It soon came out that as a practical experiment in human relations the girl had been cutting up with a social worker named Ernest Jackson who is a married man and a Negro. I wish I knew whether this coed had been one of Doctor Brameld's students.

Social Security Law Provisions

George J. Johnson, district manager of the Kingston Social Security Administration Office, submits the following article on the new Social Security Law:

Do you have a maid, laundress, housekeeper, cook, nursemaid, gardener, handyman or chauffeur of your privately owned car? If so, and you pay your employee $50 or more cash wages in the period January 1, 1955 through March 31, 1955, you must report this employee's wages for social security purposes.

THERE IS NO longer any requirement that the employee work a certain number of days. The sole test being whether you pay him or her $50 or more in a calendar quarter starting January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1.

WE WILL NOW consider the case of John, the local handyman, who shovels snow, tends furnaces, cuts grass and takes care of the place in general. John offers a more difficult problem as during certain seasons of the year he is often paid $50 or more by an employer who does not employ him at all or seldom employs him during other seasons. If John is paid $50 in any quarter for any of the services mentioned above, his employer must report for social security purposes.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 17— I am back here again for the winter and wish to tell of a tragedy occurring during my absence, although you may have read of it in your local newspaper.

THIS STORY involved: (1) A well-known and able lawyer living for many years in our community; (2) Two very respectable and intelligent well-to-do friends of mine; (3) Two wills prepared by the said lawyer; and (4) A "trigger man" allegedly employed to murder one of my above two friends.

Now for the tragedy. The lawyer had apparently drawn up wills for these two friends. When he submitted them to the makers, they suggested certain corrections, asking the lawyer to have the wills retyped, and they would come in again shortly thereafter for signing. Fatal mistakes were apparently made by these intelligent people for not again reading the wills before the final signing and witnessing, and for not initialing each page. Nor did they take the signed wills with them to a place of deposit, so that they might be reread once each year. This would have entailed some bother, but this would have been nothing compared to the trouble which followed.

THE LAWYER, or someone, allegedly slipped into the wills a clause leaving him a large sum of money. This could have been done during the retyping before the parties finally signed; or, being typewritten wills, a page could have been rewritten and slipped in after the signing. If, however, each will had been read again, finally signed, and taken home, the tragedy would not have taken place.

The lawyer also made himself the executor of the two wills. This would give him advantage in collecting the money allegedly willed him and for controlling the balance of the money. Yet, to make an attorney executor is a common practice where banks with Trust Departments are not easily available.

AS THE WILLS had allegedly been "fixed" to leave the attorney large sums of money and he was to be executor, he needed only to wait until one of my two friends should die to get his money. Both were apparently in good health. Hence, if the lawyer were in a hurry for his money, a murderer would seem necessary. To complete the story, I now depend upon witnesses at the trial just ended.

The County Prosecutor claimed the attorney employed a supposedly respectable contractor to secure the "trigger man" to murder one or both of my friends. This contractor who has been found guilty (although he has appealed, claiming his innocence) is alleged to have employed a Negro to do the killing. This Negro suddenly turned State's evidence.

Owing to the above or other reasons, the attorney was found shot, near the door of his home in Babson Park, on the morning of June 9, 1954. Whether he committed suicide, or was shot by someone who feared exposure, I do not know.

At any rate this death eliminated the attorney from the picture. Thereupon the able County Prosecutor concentrated upon finding the "trigger man" and any others connected with the deal. This was the status when I arrived here recently before the convictions.

APPARENTLY my two friends had a very close call. If one had first been killed, without in any way connecting the attorney therewith, the attorney would have protected the Will, collected the money, and legally closed the case. He was supposed to be a brilliant lawyer in our community and, of course, may have been innocent. I leave to God the final verdict.

I tell this story in order that my many readers may ask themselves these five very important questions:

Should I ever sign a paper without reading it before signing?

Should I sign typewritten documents without signing or initialing each sheet so that no one sheet can be taken out and changed?

Should I leave my Will in possession of any single individual, however honest?

Should I let a year pass without rereading my Will?

Should I fail to encourage in every way newspapers, banks, colleges, and information centers to teach about Wills and their great importance?

When South won the first trick in today's hand with the king of clubs he was tempted to tackle the trumps at once and then make up his mind whether to try a spade finesse or make some sort of diamond play. This isn't, however, the safest line of play for the game contract.

One of the troubles is that you don't know whether to tackle diamonds or spades. And if you do go after the diamonds, you don't know whether to let the jack of diamonds ride for a finesse or go up with the king.

When the hand was actually played, South resisted the first temptation and found a far safer line of play. He began by laying down the king of diamonds.

East won the ace of diamonds, although even this wasn't done without a quail. It looked as though South had K-Q-x of diamonds and was trying to get an entry to the dummy. East thought of holding up his ace of diamonds to prevent declarer from getting a diamond entry to the dummy, but he finally decided such an entry wouldn't do declarer any good.

East shifted to a spade, and South won with the ace of spades. South then led his remaining diamond, and West took the queen. West naturally led another club, and East ruffed, thus taking the third defensive trick.

East led another spade, and South put up the king. Now declarer could rely on getting to dummy with the king of hearts in order to discard his losing spade on the established jack of diamonds.

There was still one pitfall to be avoided. If South began the trumps by laying down the ace, East would eventually get a trump trick to defeat the contract.

South knew, however, that West had started the hand with seven clubs. He had already followed suit twice to spades and diamonds and was therefore bound to be very short in hearts.

There was an excellent chance that East had started with all four of the missing trumps. South therefore began the trumps by leading the dummy's king. He was then able to discard a spade on the jack of diamonds and assure his contract by means of a trump finesse.

Attendance High At Chest Clinics

The number of examinations made at the Ulster County Chest Clinics for 1954 was 5,525, the highest figure on record. Many of the patients examined had no symptoms; they were sent by their physician for a chest X-ray as part of a routine physical examination. This is a growing tendency on the part of Ulster county physicians and is recognized by most medical authorities as excellent medical practice and progressive thinking along the lines of preventative medicine.

A breakdown of the figures shows the following:

1. Of the total number of patients, 2,600 were seen once and 2,925 were seen for repeated or special studies.

2. In addition to the three clinics held weekly at Golden Hill, there were 17 Field Clinics conducted in Ellenville, Saugerties, Wallkill and the Wiltwyck School.

3. There were 82 cases of active and inactive tuberculosis and 106 cases who were suspects.

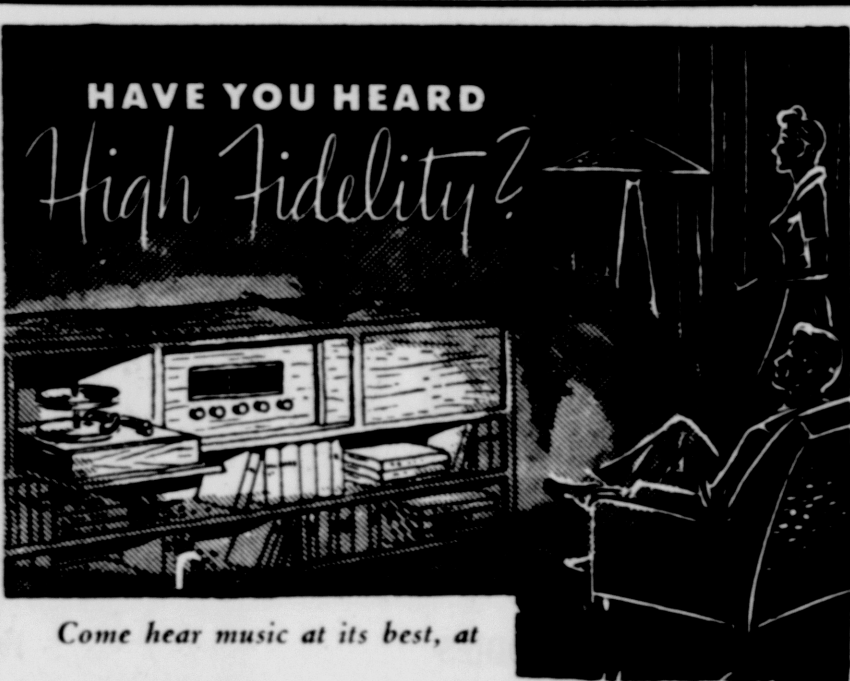

4. There were 580 non-tuberculosis cases which consisted of the following:

(a) Heart Disease—98.
(b) Suspected Tumors—6.
(c) Emphysema—13.
(d) Other conditions—463.

All of these figures are higher than those of 1953.

The TB Hospital authorities say we in Ulster county cannot become complacent about tuberculosis. The county is 7th highest in New York state in the number of cases of active tuberculosis. The City of Kingston is 7th highest of cities of New York state. This is particularly significant in view of the fact that those cities which have a higher incidence of tuberculosis are Metropolitan Centers like Albany, Buffalo, Lackawanna and Syracuse.

Bills in Legislature

By ROBERT KASMIER
Albany, Feb. 18 (AP)—A joint legislative committee, decrying lurid comics and sexy paperback books as "blueprints" for delinquency, has proposed banning their sale to minors.
The joint committee on publication of comics yesterday introduced a bill that would make it a misdemeanor to publish or to sell comic books whose titles contain the words "crime, sex, horror or terror" to persons under 18 or to sell or give them any book whose cover or contents featured illicit or sexual immorality.

"THE TIME HAS COME for the Legislature to take action against those who persist in publishing and distributing material which blueprints for children the very acts of delinquency which we decry," said Assemblyman James A. Fitz Patrick, Plattsburgh Republican who heads the committee.

The committee, which has been investigating the comic and paperback book industries more than five years, also proposed legislation that would:

1. Add books and pamphlets to the list of publications required to print in each issue the name and address of the publisher, owner or printer.
2. Authorize police to inventory the number of obscene publications held by a dealer temporarily enjoined from selling them.

3. Provide that possession by any person of six or more identical articles of an obscene nature be presumptive evidence of his intent to sell them.

THE COMMITTEE SAID that the proposed laws would apply to comic books, pocket-sized books, picture books, pamphlets and magazines.

The bill aimed at books whose covers or contents stressed illicit sex also would apply to pornographic pictures and films, the committee said.

"If the (comic book) industry is sincere in its efforts to place its house in order," Fitz Patrick said, "it can offer little objection to the enactment of this legislation."

He added that the committee's report, to be issued soon, would show "the effect upon children of their constant exposure to the steady stream of violence and crime which flows from comics, from cheap magazines and from radio and television."

The chairman said the committee also would submit joint resolutions calling on Congress to review federal legislation dealing with obscene literature and to establish an advisory to consider the effects on juveniles of radio, television and other mass media of communication.

OTHER BILLS introduced yesterday would:

Allow use of unneeded state tuberculosis hospitals for treatment of the aged and chronically ill (Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, R-Newburgh).

Establish procedures for contacting druggists in emergencies, after drug stores are closed (Assemblyman Orest V. Maresca, D-Manhatten).

Increase from 18 to 21 the minimum age for persons to be served alcoholic drinks in the state (Assemblyman Max M. Turshen, D-Kings).

Exempt from restrictions on employment more than six days a week between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m. female newspaper and reporters, licensed pharmacists and, on days before Easter and Christmas, female employees in florist shops (Assemblyman John L. Ostrander, R-Saratoga).

Bond Issue Approved
Amenia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Webutuck Central School District voters last night approved by a vote of 479 to 51 a $1,267,000 bond issue for a new junior-senior high school, and alterations to existing school buildings at Amenia and Millerton.

No Chance for Law

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Rep. R. D. Harrison (R-Neb.) said today there is "no chance whatsoever" that Congress will enact a new agriculture law this year to restore rigid high level price supports on basic farm commodities.

There was reluctant agreement with this view among some other members of the House Agriculture Committee, which yesterday heard Secretary of Agriculture Benson stand firmly by the administration's program of flexible supports. Members who declined to be quoted by name said efforts to reinstate support levels at 90 per cent of parity did not appear to "stand a ghost of a show" under present circumstances.

Geraci Convicted Of Police Assault

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Eugene Geraci, 22, was convicted yesterday of assaulting an off-duty policeman in a scuffle over a traffic violation that ended with the policeman killing Geraci's sailor friend.

The shooting, by Patrolman Sidney Eisenberg, 28, happened late at night Dec. 26 in the Bronx.

Eisenberg said he was driving home with his wife when he saw a car weaving along the street. He stopped the car, he said, and Geraci and James Niccoli, 22, got out and began beating him up.

EISENBERG SAID his wife fired a shot from his gun into the ground. He took the gun from her, he said, and Geraci and Niccoli began advancing on him.

"Get back or I'll shoot," Eisenberg said he shouted. He said Niccoli lunged at him and he fired. Niccoli was killed. He had been home on leave for Christmas.

Geraci was charged on two counts of second degree assault. He also has been fined $310 for traffic violations.

AFTER THE SHOOTING, Geraci gave a different version. He said "We thought he (Eisenberg) was kidding. We didn't do anything. There wasn't any reason for him to shoot."

The jury deliberated one hour and 55 minutes before announcing its verdict in Bronx County Court.

Judge Eugene G. Schulz set March 17 for sentencing. Geraci could receive as much as five years in prison on each count.

Rosario Executed In Electric Chair

Ossining, Feb. 18 (AP)—Romulo Rosario, the prisoner who told authorities of a purported plot for a mass escape from the death house, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison last night for a Manhattan murder.

Just before he was strapped in the chair, Rosario turned to those in the death chamber and said: "I will say my partner... sent me to the chair."

He mentioned the name of a man, but prison officials said they never had heard the name connected with the case before.

Rosario, a 38-year-old Puerto Rican, was convicted of the fatal shooting of Michael Gonzales in a New York restaurant on Oct. 6, 1953. Authorities said the shooting grew out of a feud. Rosario was a restaurant owner at the time.

ROSARIO, who hoped to the end for clemency, was heard to mutter yesterday: "I had to defend myself."

The Rev. Thomas J. Donovan, Roman Catholic chaplain at the prison, comforted Rosario during his last hours.

Turning down a sumptuous last meal—the traditional right of the doomed—Rosario ate the regular prison fare of frankfurters and sauerkraut for lunch and a grilled bacon sandwich with pea soup for dinner.

Members of Rosario's family visited him during his last three days. They included his wife, Martha; their 15-year-old son, Raymond, and 18-year-old daughter, Rachel; and his mother, Elvira.

LAST SUMMER, Rosario told of having learned of a fantastic plot to raid the prison and free all the prisoners in the death house. The purported plot included kidnapping Warden Wilfred Denno and his family.

Denno took extra precautions but was skeptical of the tip from the start. When the story leaked out months later, Denno said: "There never was any proof of what he told us. It might have originated in his own mind."

Denno refused to recommend clemency for Rosario on the basis of his tip. Rosario made a clemency plea to Gov. Averell Harriman.

Business Outlook Is Viewed as Good

Albany, Feb. 18 (AP)—New York's business prospects are "generally good" for the next few months although eight industrial areas have marked unemployment, the Commerce Department says.

The forecast yesterday was based "primarily on the busy production pace" of the automobile and construction fields, which stimulate such industries as steel, glass, cement, home furnishings and appliances, the department said.

The state's monthly indexes on business, construction and factory activity showed an upswing for December, the department said.

It also noted that business activity was rising at the end of 1954, compared with a downturn at the close of 1953.

Seasonal layoffs in retailing, manufacturing, outdoor work and the postal service were indicated by gains in the number of unemployment insurance claims for the last week of December and the first week in January.

The department reported "very substantial labor surpluses" in the Gloversville-Johnstown, Amsterdam and Auburn areas. "Substantial labor surpluses" were reported in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy, Hudson, Oswego-Fulton, Buffalo and Utica-Rome areas.

Methodists Told To Bolster UN to Save World Peace

The Rev. D. George Davies, addressing the annual fourth quarterly conference of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Tuesday evening, announced the inauguration of the Crusade for World Order by the Protestant Methodist Churches.

Dr. Davies said that following World War 2, Methodists started a world-wide Crusade for Christ and now "with many pressure groups operating to destroy the United Nations organization, we must exert effort to maintain the UN, if we really believe in the brotherhood of man."

SPEAKING of President Eisenhower, Dr. Davies said "I am glad we have such a leader and statesman as we have in President Eisenhower today. He is a leader with vision and faith."

Continuing, Dr. Davies said "we must put the superstructure of our civilization back on a religious foundation." And he added "it is the responsibility of Christians to provide a moral and spiritual atmosphere in which to build a better United Nations. There must be more concern about one another's spiritual well-being. We need a spirit of self-sacrifice about our faith and our lives, if we are to win in this struggle for a world of peace for God."

RELATING EXPERIENCES of his father and brother-in-law, both Methodist ministers now serving in India, Dr. Davies explained that the Communist workers in India are ever alert to the slightest error in speech or an oversight by Christian missionaries and religious leaders. "They enlarge and distort the story and disseminate every unfavorable matter," he said. Honesty and truth in all things must ever be our guide. The annual conference was conducted in the Sunday school room of the church by Mr. Davies, who is district superintendent of Methodist churches in the Kingston district. Reports on the activities of the past year were received from all the departments, and officials of the church. The Rev. Clyde H. Snell, D.D., minister of the church gave a pastoral report on the accomplishments both spiritual and material of the membership. Dr. Snell indicated he had officiated at six weddings, 39 funerals, 16 baptisms and made nearly 900 pastoral calls in addition to conducting church membership classes and Bible study groups.

FROM THE VARIOUS departments and officials of the church it was pointed out that the Sunday school had an average attendance of over 100, and the Youth Fellowship had over 15. The church membership of active members is 763, with 32 new members having joined the church during the year. Nineteen members were lost through death or transfers.

It was also announced that Clinton Avenue Church had attained the highest average church attendance since the beginning of the new year, among the 100 churches in the district. It also had the distinction of having made the largest contribution to the Bishop's Appeal for Korea, a Methodist church fund raised to rebuild, restore and assist churches in Korea where people are desperately in need of help. Further, the Clinton Avenue church had oversubscribed World Service and benevolences during the past year, indicating a greater trend toward helping those in far off places as well as at home, the report said. Dr. Snell, summing up the year said "maybe the chiefest reward for a year of strenuous labor is to have the people say, 'It's good to have had a church.'"

Potash to Get Asylum
Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Polish embassy said today Communist Poland will grant asylum to Irving Potash, a top U. S. Communist. Potash served three years on conviction with 10 others of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government. He announced at New York yesterday he would seek asylum in Poland rather than face another trial in this country. Potash said he would visit the Polish embassy today to determine whether Poland would receive him.

IS HE RESPONSIBLE?

A young man tells me: "At a dance recently, my girl friend gave me a small purse, in which she had fifteen dollars, to hold for her in my pocket. Somehow or other the purse was lost, or stolen. I feel terrible about this and would like to know if it is up to me to pay back the money. I am a college student and fifteen dollars means a good deal to me. However, I want to do the right thing. Will you please advise me?"

If she asked you to keep her purse for her, then she should assume full responsibility. If you offered to put it in your pocket for her, then the responsibility is yours.

Too Many Showers

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married next month and so far I have been invited to three showers that are being given for the bride-to-be. I am a widow and money is not too plentiful. What with buying myself new clothes for the wedding and giving my son and his bride a substantial check for a wedding present, I have very little left to buy shower presents. I have already gone to one shower at which I gave the bride a very nice present. Would it be possible for me to decline the other two shower invitations without causing comment?

Answer: Shower presents were originally supposed to be only trifles—"little drops of rain"—and you need certainly not give anything of value in addition to your real presents, but to stay away entirely, except for a serious reason, might cause comment.

Giving Name to Strangers

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm an unmarried middle-aged woman. Please tell me what is the proper form in giving my name to strangers. Shall I say "I'm Miss Blank" or "Mary Blank," and would the apparent age of the stranger have anything to do with this?

Answer: You might say Mary Blank to someone much older than yourself, but otherwise you call yourself Miss Blank to strangers.

How long before the wedding should the engagement announcement be made public? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but many wedding details are described in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-1, "Engagements." To obtain a copy, sent 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

County Defense In Need of Nurses

Ulster county needs nurses in its vital civil defense emergency medical service, Miss Esther A. Schisa, chief nurse officer of the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense Council, announced today. In the event of an atomic disaster, nurses should know where to go and what to do to help the injured in their own or a neighboring community. A nurse should be expected to assume major leadership responsibilities in the organization and supervision of large numbers of volunteers.

THERE WILL BE a meeting for all nurses of Ulster county on Feb. 28, at 7:30 p. m., in the main auditorium of the George Washington School, Kingston, N. Y. This program is being sponsored by the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense Council, the Ulster County Health Department, and District No. 11 of the New York State Nurses Association. Major John G. M. Hill, of the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense Council, will talk on the civil defense plan for the community. Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, medical director of Civil Defense and health commissioner of the Ulster County Health Department, will talk on the medical plan. At this meeting a plan will be presented for continuing classes on the "Guide for Nurses in Emergency Medical Services."

All nurses should come prepared to actively participate in civilian defense, and they should plan to attend future classes in their own local area on their role as a nurse.

Farm Bureau

federal levy would be given up. Under the program advanced by the President's advisory committee on highways, state and local agencies would contribute about 70 billion and the federal government approximately 31 billion. The President is expected to send Congress a special message dealing with it.

Foster said that "out of every dollar that the federal government would spend out of federal taxes on roads, between 20 and 25 cents would be collected from within New York state."

He indicated that the Farm Bureau felt that New York state would pay more than its share toward such a highway program.

Foster said that farmers paid about 60 million a year in federal taxes on gasoline used only to produce crops. He said that the Congressmen appeared to feel that "we had a very, very strong case that gasoline be tax-exempt when used for non-highway purposes."

Foster said the Farm Bureau group also: 1. Supported flexible price supports for farm products because "in the long run, high rigid price supports destroy opportunities for farmers."

2. Opposed the standby price and wage controls that the executive department has in case of emergency. "Farmers don't want controls," Foster said, "when you have standby controls, it's too easy for someone to create an emergency."

3. Urged enactment of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act because "reciprocal trade offers considerable opportunity for providing markets for U. S. agriculture in contrast to storage of produce in government warehouses."

Guest Speaker Gives Inspirational Talk At Annual Dinner

An inspirational talk emphasizing the responsibilities of Americans as leaders of the free world was given by Judge Harold Caldwell Kessinger of Ridge-wood, N. J., at the 30th annual Washington Day Dinner at the Old Dutch Church on Thursday evening.

The lecturer lightened the seriousness of his message with numerous examples of dead-pan humor which drew hearty laughter from the 300 men who filled the church's Bethany Hall to capacity.

G. Herbert DeKay, president of the Men's Club which sponsors the annual event, presided.

THE PROGRAM ALSO featured a number of songs by the Gold Dusters, group of seven young songsters from Vassar College, whose offerings were received with prolonged applause.

Judge Kessinger developed his theme by reviewing the world's troubles in past history, and noting that Americans today are faced with the fact that this country is the leader of the free world, and has no choice in the matter.

Isolationism, he said, was killed by the Wright brothers with the invention of the airplane.

"This is a new age, and we have to face it," he said.

Exploring the question of what made America great, he pointed out that other countries are larger in area, others have greater population, others have natural resources just as abundant. The only possible answer to America's greatness, he said, is its "climate of freedom."

THREE BASIC FREEDOMS are religious freedom, political freedom and economic freedom. "If we lose one, we are in danger of losing all three," he said, pointing to the dangers of inflation and loss of economic freedom.

Judge Kessinger expressed faith in the ultimate solution to the world's troubles, that "right will win," and "the best is yet to come."

The speaker said, "You can burn books but not the truth contained in them; you can put a dreamer in prison, but not the dream; you can through the idealist behind bars, but not the ideal; you can kill the messenger, but not the message."

He concluded with a description of the events surrounding the Crucifixion of Christ, the darkness of that hour and the fact that "just a handful" retained the faith—and yet that faith lived and ultimately changed the world.

THROUGHOUT HIS TALK, Judge Kessinger showed himself master of the art of injecting we could only learn to live on the world like men."

"The only way not to have trouble is not to live."

"A boy is not just naturally bad. And he is not just naturally good. A boy is just naturally busy."

Humorous passages, of which there were many, were delivered in an unusual manner by the speaker, who not once during his talk cracked a smile. His style reminded one of the late Will Rogers, but with an occasional change of pace to the rapid-fire recitation of words and phrases made popular by Fibber McGee.

JUDGE KESSINGER, municipal judge of Ridgewood for seven years, has a background as editor, publisher, educator, bank president, world traveler and civic leader. He is a prominent Rotarian, having served as a district governor and a director of Zone Five, largest in Rotary International.

The speaker was introduced by Clair S. Sheaffer, program chairman. Stuart Randall was general chairman of the dinner committee. A turkey dinner was served by the Women's Guild, of which Mrs. John Comstock is president. Table decorations were by Mrs. Herbert Johnson assisted by Mrs. Jacob Tremper. Richard Tailleux was song leader, with Mrs. Willard Burke as piano accompanist.

Tip-on Towels
Good bath towels have a firm background weave, close and long loops or tufts. They should be colorfast to washing. They should have a wide, firm, even selvage and well-finished hems.

Utah Gets Skyline Berth in NCAA

(By The Associated Press)

It looks as if Brigham Young was just whistling in the dark when it upset Utah in overtime last week to make a bid for the NCAA postseason tournament in collegiate basketball.

What toehold the Brighams got with that victory in the Skyline Conference race was eliminated last night when Utah State spilled BYU 76-71 and league-leading Utah, ranked No. 10 in this week's Associated Press poll, trounced Montana 101-68.

That left the Utes with 9-1 record with four league games left—all at home. And that virtually clinches the league title and the NCAA berth for Utah.

ST. LOUIS lengthened its lead in the Missouri Valley Conference by winning at Wichita 91-78.

Manhattan and Niagara, heading for the NIT, won easily in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader. Manhattan (15-3) zipped past New York University 78-61 in a game played under pro rules and Niagara (16-5) never gave St. John's of Brooklyn a chance in an 82-62 decision.

Joe Scarpinato of NYU led the scoring in the opener with 22 points, two more than Manhattan's top man, Ed O'Connor. In the nightcap, it was Ed Fleming with 25 points for Niagara.

Pistons Easy For Knicks

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Wayne Pistons are leading the western division of the National Basketball Assn. by 4½ games today but they are pushovers for the New York Knicks.

The Knicks defeated the Pistons for the sixth straight time last night when they won 93-86 at Miami, Fla., to keep within 2½ games of the Syracuse Nationals, eastern division leaders who turned back the Boston Celtics 107-93 for their fifth successive triumph.

THE ROCHESTER Royals again proved they were the Philadelphia Warriors' No. 1 cousins, losing 78-73 at New Haven. The victory was the Warriors' fourth in as many nights over the Royals.

In extending their current winning streak to six, the Knicks moved out in front by 26 points at the end of the third period. The Pistons surged within three points with 45 seconds remaining only to have the Knicks take command again.

Ray Felix paced the Knicks with 20 points, one more than Carl Braun.

Jim Amendola Hits 649; Gov. Clinton Mkt.-2959; Bob Smith Has 255-617

Riding on the momentum of his great shooting in the city tournament, Jimmy Amendola paced a brisk session of the Ferraro Major League with a 649 triple last night at the Bowlodrome.

Eight other keggers caught the "600" fever and Governor Clinton Market had three men over the charmed circle to rack up a new team series of 2959. They had game totals of 924, 1024 and 1011.

Top shooter in the Sportsmen's Major was Bob Smith, the Rookies Tavern anchor, who fired games of 185, 177 and 255 for 617.

Souchak's 27 New PGA Record

San Antonio, Feb. 18 (AP)—Massive Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., who fashioned a record-tying 60 and set a new 9-hole mark of 27, headed the field that moved toward the half-way point of the $12,000 Texas Open today.

Souchak, the ex-football star of Duke University, finished early in yesterday's opening bout then sat back and watched the hotshots of the tournament trail try to catch him. His 60 tied the PGA record for 18 holes held by Al Brosch, Bill Nary, Ted Kroll and Tommy Bolt, and his 27 on the back nine of the 6,400-yard Brackenridge Park course cracked the record of 28 held by Ben Hogan, Toby Lyons, and Bolt.

IN SECOND PLACE was Freddie Haas of Claremont, Calif., who had a 9-under-par 62 with a smoking putter, and third was huge John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., who shot three eagles and in one stretch of five holes was seven under par. Next in line were Peter Allis of Dorset, England, and Al Balding of Toronto, Canada, each with 64.

Souchak shot his great round despite a bogey when he 3-putted one green. And he used only 25 putts on 18 greens.

Chandler Harper of Chattanooga, Tenn., the defending champion who tied the PGA record for 72 holes last year with 259, had a 67 and grumbled about it.

Baseball Ticket Sales Indicate Good Season

Giants Set Pace In Increase

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The Associated Press

Major league baseball clubs can look forward to a prosperous 1955 on the basis of advance sale of tickets.

With only one or two exceptions, and one of those is the New York Yankees, the clubs reported an increase in advance sales over 1954 in a survey by the Associated Press.

The increase is in line with the overall jump last year when the attendance climbed 9.7 per cent over the preceding season on a turnout of 15,935,881.

THE YANKEES advance is in excess of $900,000 but they are about 10 per cent off last year's figures. When the Pittsburgh Pirates checked their figures a week ago they found themselves only some $2,000 under last year. Last year's figures were $328,214 compared to this year's $326,811.

But the world champion New York Giants and the American League titleholders, the Cleveland Indians, are well satisfied. The advance ticket sale of the Giants has passed a record half-million dollars whereas the entire advance up to the opening day in 1954 was only $322,000.

The Indians said they do not keep comparative records but that sales are running ahead of last year when the club did around a million dollars in advance sales.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers, benefitting from clever promotions, are at the $600,000 mark, which is almost 15 per cent higher than at the same time last season.

Requests are coming in so fast at the new home of the Athletics in Kansas City that the club has not had time to strike a total. But officials said the advance sale already has surpassed the 304,666 attendance for the entire season last year when the A's played in Philadelphia under different ownership.

Baltimore, where the transplanted Browns improved in attendance but not much in the standings last year, had $550,000 in the till as of Feb. 13 compared to an estimated $470,000 in 1954.

MILWAUKEE, which topped all clubs last year with an attendance in excess of two mil-ion, estimated its advance sale at or close to a million.

The Phillies reported about 200,000 sold for a 10 per cent jump over last year. Part of the increase was attributed to the departure of the Athletics to Kansas City.

Cincinnati officials said they are running about 18 per cent ahead of last year. The Boston Red Sox reported an estimated increase of five per cent. The Chicago Cubs seven per cent in season tickets and 11 per cent in daily duets and the Detroit Tigers 10 per cent.

Haulenbeek's 551 Tops Central Hud.

Jack Haulenbeek's 551, with 168-200-183, led the Central Hudson League keggers. Dick Tailleu hit 545 for the runnerup slot.

Ben-Gurion Will Head Defense

Jerusalem, Feb. 18 (AP)—Israel's first premier, David Ben-Gurion, agreed last night to end his desert retirement and become defense minister again.

Ben-Gurion has been living on an agricultural project in the Negev desert since quitting his dual post of premier and defense minister 14 months ago. He takes the defense post from Pinchas Lavon, who resigned last night from Premier Moshe Sharett's coalition cabinet.

Since both Ben-Gurion and Lavon are members of the Mapai (labor) Party, the switch presumably will cause no change in government policy.

Lavon said he would give his reasons for resigning to the cabinet and to the Knesset (parliament) later.

changing the law upward from 18 to 21 years of age for the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

Sale of half pints might make it easier for minors to obtain liquor, conceal it, go to taverns and spike soft drinks, he said.

Tavernkeepers might be wrongfully accused in cases of intoxication, and face punishment for breaking the law in selling to minors.

BEER DELIVERIES Sunday mornings would be unfair to tavern men, who must keep their places closed until 1 p. m., Kelliher said, and would add to the present problems making it a struggle to continue in business, including television which keeps people at home.

Kelliher pointed out that the law for sale to those 18 years of age coincides with Selective Service, which does not wait until a youth is 21 to accept him in the armed forces. A change to 21 would offset a 20 per cent in loss of sales, he estimated.

Stressing a get-together between all branches of the alcoholic beverages industry, Kelliher said, "it is the only way to solve our problems, which are bound to increase."

Britain Would Buy American Weapon

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Great Britain, with much of her guided missile program still in the development stage, has been talking with the United States about buying some American weapons.

The talks, still in preliminary phases with any formal negotiations yet to follow, involve the U. S. Army's corporal missile, a Defense Department spokesman said today in answer to a reporter's inquiries.

The corporal is a "surface-to-surface" missile, intended for bombardment of enemy targets at ranges greater than are covered by conventional artillery.

THERE HAS BEEN speculation that the corporal can strike, with effective accuracy up to 40 or 50 miles. The army says its range is "far beyond" that of artillery, which covers up to 30 miles with big guns.

The corporal is produced for the army jointly by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and Gillfillan Brothers, Inc. It has been in mass production for more than a year.

The spokesman said published reports that the British government already has purchased some other American missiles appeared premature, adding that the only missile involved so far is the corporal and that in that case negotiations are only in the discussion stage.

THE CORPORAL can be equipped with either a standard explosive warhead or an atomic charge. Its speed is something over 2,000 miles an hour, far too fast for interception by any existing planes.

In firing, it starts out propelled by a rocket motor. During its flight, a guidance system takes control to steer the missile toward its precise target.

Modern Hospital To Treat Polio To Be Dedicated

Los Angeles, Feb. 18 (AP)—The world's most modern polio hospital will be dedicated today. The 4½ million dollar edifice is largely a monument to the civic devotion of a movie magnate who once watched helplessly as his daughter lay near death in an overcrowded polio ward.

The eight-story communicable diseases unit of the Los Angeles County General Hospital will be in use in another month or so. Although taxpayers footed the bill through a bond issue, doctors and hospital officials give much of the credit to Don Hartman, head of production at Paramount pictures.

IN 1948, an epidemic year, Hartman's eldest daughter, Mima, then 17, was confined to the overcrowded polio ward at General Hospital.

After she recovered, her father and James Simmons, an airline executive who also had relatives in the ward, formed a citizens committee to get a bond issue passed for a new hospital. "Our only job," Hartman recalls, "was to overcome apathy."

Hartman, a former screenwriter, wrote a moving script containing a short plea. He got MGM to film it and Cary Grant to star in it. Fox West Coast Theatres distributed it.

It will be the forerunner of 30 Lockheed Super Constellation to be stationed at Otis Air Force Base there. The initial craft will be flown from McClellan Air Force Base in California by Col. Oliver Cellini of Chicago, who will command the 551st Aircraft Early Warning and Control Wing at Otis.

Nuclear Study Laboratory Will Be at Pawling

Pawling, Feb. 18 (AP)—Nuclear Development Associates, Inc., through John R. Menke, its president, announced today it had contracted to purchase 1,100 acres of land in Pawling and Beekman, in southern Dutchess county.

The land will be used for construction of a research laboratory, in which testing can be carried out on models to advance nuclear energy studies.

Figures on the cost of the land and the plant were not disclosed. The plant will employ about 150 scientists and highly skilled technicians, in addition to 24-hour guards.

The private firm was founded in 1946 and has done research and testing work for the U. S. government under contract, as well as for manufacturing plants interested in development of atomic power for peaceful use.

Final Plans Announced For Annual Banquet of C of C

Final plans for the annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, March 1, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, were announced today by Edward Craig, chairman of the banquet committee.

The dining room doors will open at 6:30 and service will start promptly at 6:45. No special seating arrangements are planned, therefore it was suggested that everyone come early.

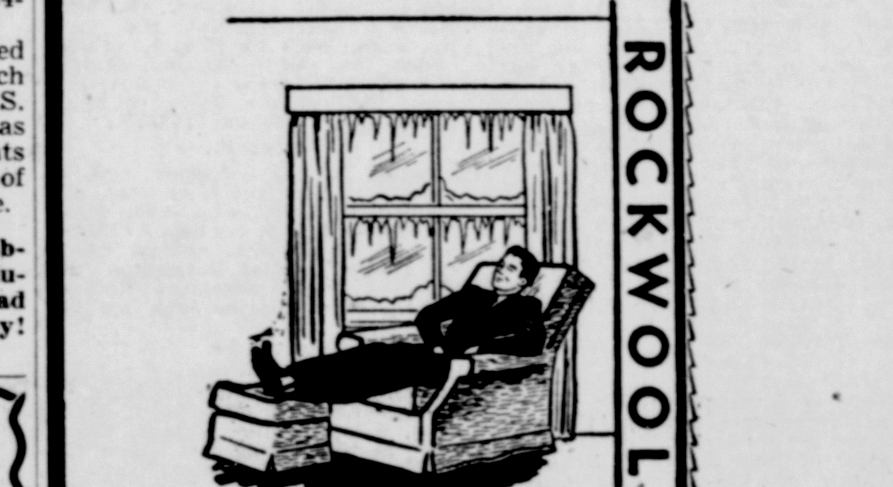

The speaker, Dr. Charles F. Phillips, president of Bates College at Lewiston, Me., will be accompanied by his wife. Dr. Phillips, when named president of Bates College in September of 1944, was the youngest college president in the United States. He has had a varied career. His knowledge and practical insight of economics and business administration, as well as his ability as an interesting speaker, have caused him to lead a busy life with many worldwide demands on his time. During the winter of 1953-54 he traveled to India and Pakistan on a special mission for the State Department. Craig said, "We are very fortunate to secure his services as our speaker."

Numerous inquiries have been received at the chamber office as to whether attendance is limited to members and their wives or husbands. Attendance is not restricted to members. Reservations may be made at the chamber office in the Governor Clinton Hotel by calling Kingston 5100. The banquet is a public function and not limited to chamber members.

Fisher Gives Talk To Paltz Lions; Officers Named

Henry J. Fisher, supervisor of public assistance for the Ulster County Department of Welfare, addressed the New Paltz Lions Club at their regular semi-monthly meeting Wednesday night at the Ireland Corners Hotel.

Fisher, who has had more than 20 years of experience in Public Welfare work, gave a very informative talk about the function of the welfare department. He pointed out that while public assistance was being administered in the most efficient manner possible, there still remained broad areas of need which can only be met by private organizations such as Lions Clubs who are familiar with particular needs of their own communities. In conclusion, the speaker assured the New Paltz group that they would be of real service to their community through the type of projects which are carried on by Lions Clubs throughout the entire world.

ALSO AT THIS MEETING, Melvin Hurd, chairman of the nominating committee submitted the report of that committee and election of officers was held. Following is the full slate of officers of the New Paltz Lions Club: President, Walter Dyer; Vice President, Clarence Koenig; Secretary, T. R. S. Dyer; David Dodge; Taitwister, John Shand; Lion Tamer, Richard Burhans; Director, the Rev. W. R. Porter; Director, Albert Zimmerman.

The Rev. W. R. Porter reporting for the Charter Night Committee stated that plans were being completed for the dinner and dance to mark the occasion March 19. Reservations should be made soon, because tickets are being limited to 150 persons.

Thomas Says Reds For First Time Are Aware of Power

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas predicts no immediate war in Formosa strait because — as he puts it — for the first time in the cold war the Reds

"came face to face with the harsh realities of seapower." Thomas, in a speech last night marking the 16th anniversary of the Naval Supply Corps, added that the island of Formosa itself will remain a problem for the United States because it is a part of a "pattern" for Communist conquests. Urging balanced offenses and defenses in all service branches, Thomas said our navy is "well equipped" to carry out its part in either global or limited warfare.
